

Philosophy:

Your home is an extension of your tastes, travels, sentimental treasures and lifestyle.

Butterfield Interiors knows the importance of being a good listener and being attentive to your preferences, budget, and time demands while allowing our work to become a unique interpretation of your needs and personality. Our function in this process is to assist you in developing a beautiful and functional environment, reduce your stress level and minimize the demands on your time. Your interior design project should always be an enjoyable experience. The end result will be apparent in the comfort you feel when relaxing in an environment that is well-designed to suit your own good taste and the pride of ownership. Because why should you ever settle for ordinary when you can have extraordinary?
